Consequences of Policy Violation

Enforcement of these rules may take the form of any of the following actions, depending on the severity of the violation, which will be determined by the staff on duty at the time. Misconduct by persons under eighteen years of age is discussed by the remedies provided in the Library's Unattended Children Policy.

- Visitors who violate this policy will be given one verbal warning and asked to behave in an appropriate manner. Visitors who do not modify their behavior after one warning may be asked to leave for the rest of the day.
- Visitors who violate this policy in a manner that staff judge is “extreme” may be ordered to leave the building immediately and may be requested not to return for the remainder of the day. “Extreme” violations may include activities that are harassing, threatening, dangerous, or destructive to persons or property at the Library premises.
- If necessary, the senior staff member on duty may call the Goffstown Police for assistance.
- Visitors whose behavior is significantly disruptive of the Library’s mission, either because of repeated violations of this policy, or because of a single extreme event which is dangerous, threatening, harassing or destructive to persons or property, may have their Library privileges revoked, including a prohibition against entering the Library, for a period of up to one year. The length of the revocation will depend on the nature of the violation, the extent of damage and disruption caused by policy infractions, and other relevant circumstances.
- In cases where the visitor’s behavior does not constitute an immediate threat to the health, safety or security of visitors or staff, or to Library property, the visitor will be provided with written notice, by certified or registered mail, or hand delivery by the Goffstown Police, of the Library’s intent to impose a suspension or revocation of Library privileges. The notice will specify the date on which the suspension or revocation of privileges is to commence, and the reason(s) for said action. The notice will also include language advising the visitor of his or her right to challenge the decision by requesting a hearing before the Library Board of Trustees. A request for hearing must be received within five (5) business days of receiving the notice. If a hearing is requested, it will be scheduled at the next scheduled meeting of the Library Board of Trustees or within 30 days. If no request for hearing is made, the revocation or suspension of privileges will become effective on the date specified in the notice. The decision of the Board of Trustees following any hearing will be final, including prohibition against entering the Library for a period of up to one year, depending on the nature of the violation, the extent of damage and disruption caused by policy infractions, and other relevant circumstances. Visitors may request a hearing, in writing, before the Library Board of Trustees to appeal the notice within fourteen (14) days of such notice and the notice shall include language advising the visitor of the right to appeal.
- In cases where a visitor’s behavior is deemed to constitute an immediate threat to the health, safety or security of visitors or staff, or to Library property, the Library Director may impose an emergency suspension of the visitor’s Library privileges and prohibit the visitor from entering the Library. In cases of emergency suspension of privileges, the visitor will be provided with written notice, by certified or registered mail, or hand delivered by the Goffstown Police, of the immediate suspension of the visitor’s Library privileges for a period of time, not to exceed one year, and advising the visitor that he or she is not permitted to enter the Library or Library grounds without prior, exceptional permission of the Library Director. The notice will include language advising the visitor that he or she can appeal the Library Director’s decision by requesting a hearing before the Library Board of Trustees. If a hearing is requested, it will be scheduled at the next scheduled meeting of the Library Board of Trustees or within 30 days.
